Profile

Kit established A Whispering Campaign (AWC) in 2014 as a moniker for creative collaborations. Formally trained as an architect, Kit's endeavours under AWC ranges from illustration, installation, large-scale mural works, photography, industrial and interior architectural design, film scoring to creative writing.

AWC's body of work in their inception, explores the potentials and possibilities of creative partnership between different disciplines, in their production, explores the relationship between images and the conception of meaning and in their reception, explores the dependency of creatives and their audiences.
